Singapore to London

Description

Iâ??m planning to ride my motorcycle from Singapore to Europe starting April/May this year, 2019. I will go through Malaysia, Thailand and Laos before joining a group ride through western China. After a month in China riding through Tibet I will enter Kirghistan. Then into Kazakhstan and further towards Europe.

This will be a long trip and thereâ??s lotâ??s of stuff to prepare. I will be going through many countries and visa requirements will vary from country to country. There are also preparations to do for the bike.

Read more

Singapore to Laos

default watermark

The first part of the trip was easy with no visas or other paperwork needed and went from Singapore through Malaysia, Thailand and Laos.

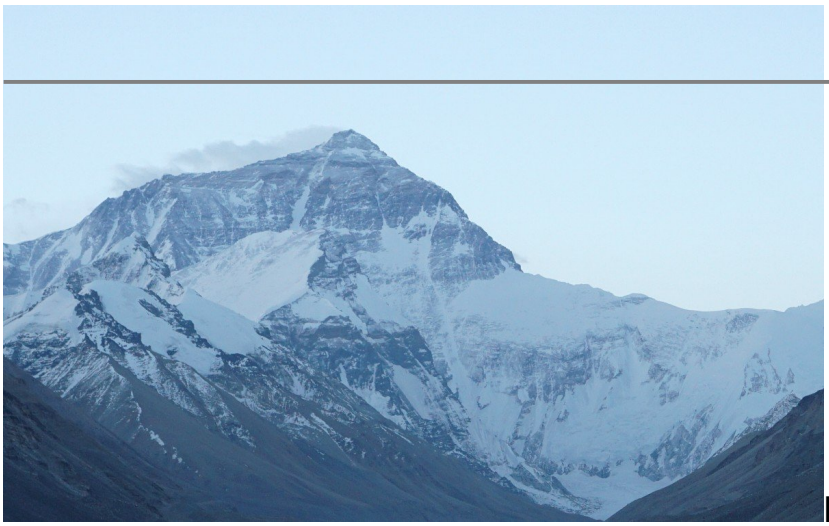

Read more

Laos to Lhasa, Tibet

We rode 3200 km to Lhasa through amazing and scenic landscapes gradually ascending to an elevation of around 4000m.

Read more

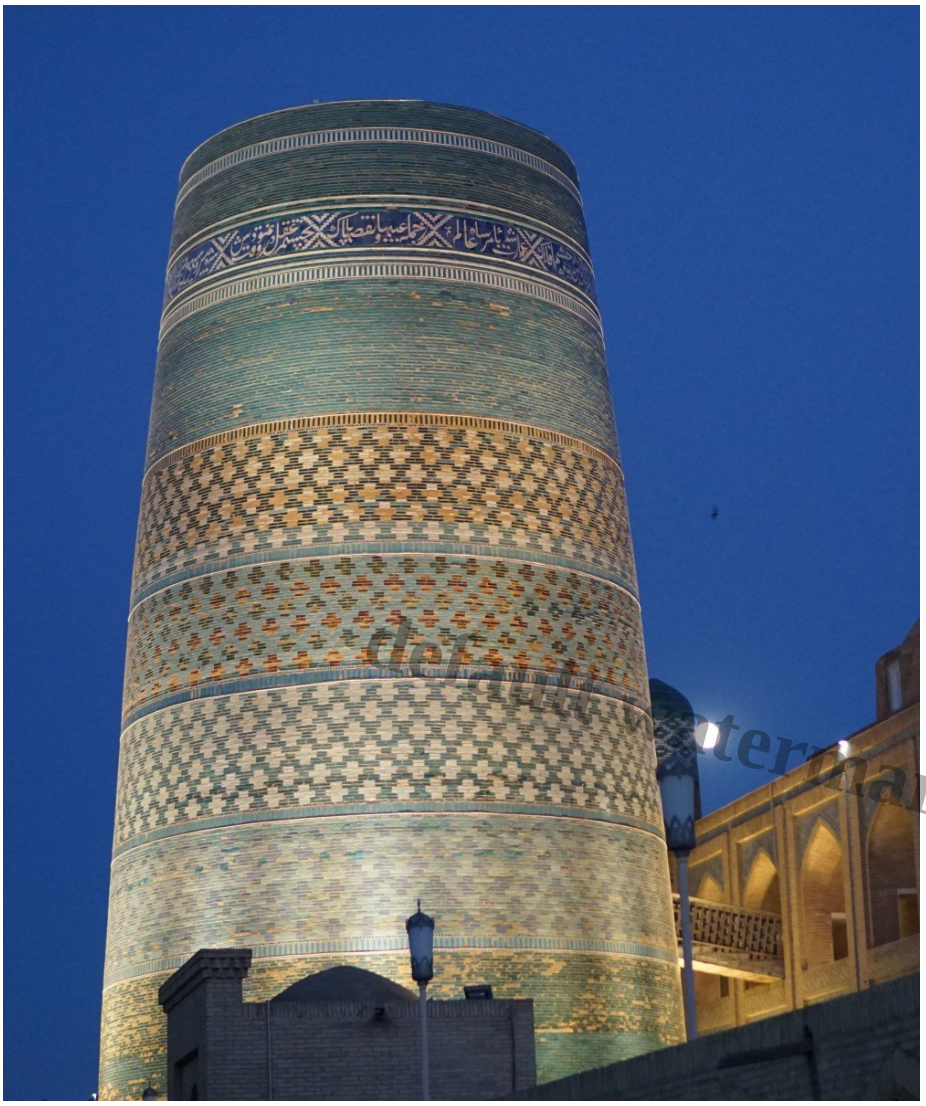

Lhasa to Kashgar

The highlight of this stretch was undoubtedly Mount Everest base camp but there were many other exciting sights as well.

Read more

default watermark

Silk Road

Once out of China the real adventure starts! Kirghistan starts off as a bit of a bad dream, but Uzbekistan through Samarkand is amazing while the route through Kazakhstan is more of a transport stretch.

Read more

Astrakhan, Volgograd, Moscow and onward to London

Russia turned out to be a lot nicer than itâ??s reputation and I particularly enjoyed Volgograd. Of course, Moscow was amazing and I got to see the famous buildings we often see on the news. After a ferry across the Baltic I spent some time in Sweden before going to London and the end of my adventure.

Read more

Category

1. Asia
2. China
3. Europe
4. Kazakhstan
5. Kirghistan

6. Laos
7. Motorcycle travel
8. ridechina
9. Russia
10. Singapore to London
11. Sweden
12. Thailand
13. Tibet
14. Triumph Tiger
15. Uzbekistan

Tags

1. Motorcycling

Date Created
14/03/2019
Author
admin

default watermark